GET EXCITED ABOUT SCIENCE AND ENGINEERING - FREE EVENT !

The University of Adelaide Future Minds Expo for high school and university undergraduate students hopes to inspire a new generation towards rewarding careers in engineering and science. The event, held as part of the ICWES15 Conference, is the ideal venue to engage, excite and encourage today's students and tomorrow's leaders. The goal of the event is to provide students with positive role models, especially for girls, to challenge the stereotypes for science and engineering and see firsthand the opportunities available in postgraduate study.

Meet the best brains in science and engineering

This is the first time that students will have an opportunity to meet and hear presentations from Australian and internationally renowned women scientists and engineers in Adelaide. There will be opportunity to attend all the technical sessions programmed for the day, view technical posters and discuss research projects with delegates.

All the major Engineering firms and Universities from South Australia will be in present.

Interactive activities

Students will meet with exhibitors from major corporations, universities in Adelaide and member organisations that are sponsors and supporters of the Conference. Representatives of these organisations will be able to discuss career options, subject choices and future course selections. There will be special session for students from 1.00pm onwards, facilitated by Bernie Hobbs, a scientist and judge on the ABC Show, The New Inventors.
